Event 1: Seminar for students: War is just a flower. The project Forgotten Voices: Stories of Hope, Courage and Resilience

Group 2

Participation: 14 students

Location/Dates: AHE e-learning platform

Short Description:

The seminar was about one of the stories described in the Forgotten Voices project - the story of Maria Pawlikowska-Jasnorzewska .

Maria Pawlikowska-Jasnorzewska warns against ideologies that try to subjugate all people according to a certain template and kill individuality, originality. "Statues - merciless time cuts off noses and protruding ears, societies - protruding people! You were standing apart! And worse, you wanted to stand out!" (Pawlikowska-Jasnorzewska, 1986, p. 313).

Maria Pawlikowska-Jasnorzewska knew that war is born early. It does not erupt suddenly, as school textbooks state. It is the flower of the plant that is life, which blooms bloodily from "thorny, everyday vines" (Pawlikowska-Jasnorzewska, 2018). The intensified nationalist ideologies she observed before the war, saturated with human hatred, are precisely the thorny, everyday vines of the reality of the time.

On the basis of Maria Jasnorzewska-Pawlikowska's poem "War is just a flower" was then organized an art contest for young people.
